

Ready Reserve Position Information: Former DRR employees 2009-Present

---

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's (FDIC), Division of Resolutions & Receiverships (DRR), promotes confidence in the financial system by paying insured depositors quickly, effectively managing failed banks, and providing superior customer services. While the banking industry continues to remain strong, DRR must proactively ensure a state of readiness to be able to be responsive to industry needs and is soliciting information from former employees who worked for DRR between 2009 and the present interested in returning to service should the country experience another financial crisis. The information collected from those interested in Ready Reserve positions will allow us to determine the number and experience of former staff potentially eligible to return to work with FDIC to support a financial crisis.

Ready Reserve Position Information

DRR is currently comprised of the following branches and major departments:

- Asset Marketing and Management
- Business Operations Support
- Business Program Management
- Internal Review
- Planning and Resource Management
- Receivership Operations
- Resolution Strategy

Various positions in a number of functional areas under the above branches in multiple geographic locations could be available dependent upon the needs of FDIC during a financial crisis. Functional areas may include, but are not limited to:

Accounting	Franchise Marketing
Asset Marketing	Investigations
Asset Management	Internal Review
Business Information Systems	Receivership Oversight
Claims	Resolutions & Closings
Contract Oversight	Resource Management
Customer Service	Risk Share Asset Management (RSAM)
Financial Analysis and Planning	Settlements

DRR staff work in teams and often must travel extensively to conduct resolutions functions for failed or failing financial institutions.
